

5 Reasons to Use Zebra Technologies on Your Plant Floor

To meet customer expectations in today's on-demand economy, production, inventory and shipping processes need to be faster, more efficient, and more accurate than ever before. To help manufacturers solve these challenges, The SMS Group and Zebra are combining SMS mobile software solutions with Zebra's industry leading mobile technologies, and here are five big reasons why.

1

Automating Plant Floor Processes

Zebra mobile technologies and SMS software apps put critical business information, transactions, and data capture tools at your fingertips, allowing you to automate production picking, orders, issues, returns, receipts, timesheets, inventory and much more

2

Real-Time Data Collection

With Zebra mobile computing, barcode scanning and RFID solutions, you can capture data and manage transactions in real time, anywhere in the plant or warehouse. You can do it without walking back-and-forth to desktop PCs, dealing with paper documents, or relying on batch updates.

3

Accuracy and Error Avoidance

Zebra's advanced scanning algorithms capture barcodes, form fields, signatures and more—the first time and every time. With Zebra automated data capture, you can manage accurate inventory and real-time transactions without manual data entry or other error-prone processes.

4

Improved Inventory Management

Zebra helps you replace annual cycle counts and multi-day shutdowns with real-time inventory scanning and tracking. You can get rid of spreadsheets and data entry and switch to automated processes to stay on top of inventory, make real-time adjustments, and ensure accuracy.

5

Better Shipping Management

With Zebra mobile computing and barcode scanning solutions, you can ensure the right products in the right quantities are pulled, staged, packed and shipped, with fewer chargebacks and returns. Scans and mobile workflows help you validate correct goods and shipments, trace products and materials for quality assurance, and improve outbound shipping efficiency and accuracy.
